Part 2: Analysis of Your Names

Why Names Matter

<https://www.kabalarians.com/cfm/nrmovie-embedded.cfm>

A Few Points to Recognize

In your Name Report, your names are analyzed using the 26-letter English alphabet. However the effect of your names in English may be modified somewhat if your names were created from a different alphabet. We would be pleased to discuss this matter with you.

Middle names do not determine your personality traits and are not analyzed unless you are called by your middle name. If your middle name is a part of your business signature, it would have an overall influence in your business affairs and would be described in the business signature section.

Adding Additional Names

If there are additional names you use and would like analyzed such as:

- nicknames
- middle names
- legal names
- business signatures
- previous names
- birth names
- maiden names

- future names

Your First Name(s)

Your most used first name(s) reveals your personality—your desires, ideals, capabilities, goals, ambitions, potential health sensitivities, the types of people you are drawn to, and the business and personal surroundings you seek.

Important: If your legal name is different than your most used name of Debjyoti we would encourage to add your legal first name to your Name Report so you can get an analysis this name as it is a very important influence in your life. For example:

- Most used first name: Joe
- But legal first name: Joseph

Debjyoti

[\[edit/add name\]](#)

Your name of Debjyoti gives you a great desire to help people and draws you towards positions of philanthropic service. Amiable and diplomatic, generous and sympathetic, you make friends easily. People come to you seeking solutions to their problems because of your ability to sense their feelings and to give good advice. If those around you are quarrelling, you try to create understanding between them.

Yours is a quick mind and you can usually think of something to say when there is a need to offset or deflect an unpleasant situation, sometimes finding it necessary to stretch the truth a little in the process. You want very much for everyone to be happy and friendly. Since your life is people-oriented, you must hold confidences shared with you and guard your tongue against a tendency to gossip.

There are times in your life when others are apt to take advantage because you find it difficult to say "no" especially if your sympathies are appealed to. Being sensitive and idealistic, you thrive on encouragement and appreciation. You do not like to stand alone. As you often experience difficulty in making decisions, you tend to depend on others to give you support and confidence to follow through on your decisions. Under stressful and intense situations, it is a challenge to maintain an even temperament as you are extreme in your feelings: optimistic and happy one moment, despondent and self-pitying the next.

You must guard against outbursts of temper. Because you are intuitive and impressionable, at times even psychic, you are influenced by your surroundings and the thoughts and feelings of others, including their suffering. This sensitivity contributes to your variable nature, and can lead to uncontrolled, disturbing thoughts. Though you have the best of intentions, you dislike facing issues and procrastination could be your worst enemy. There may be a tendency to make impractical promises that satisfy the situation for the moment.

Any monotonous activities that require system, order, and concentration are delayed until you are forced to take action. As a result, your efforts tend to be scattered and unsuccessful. You appreciate music, drama, and art. If given the training, you could excel in creative self-expression, particularly in playing an instrument, in speech arts, or in dancing. Fashionable clothes and refined surroundings would add to your poise and self-assurance. As you enjoy spending money and are generous, you must be wary of those who would appeal to your feelings and encourage you to spend beyond your means.

The qualities of this name cause sensitivities in the nervous system that could affect your health. Plenty of rest and relaxation is needed in order to handle responsibilities. If you drive yourself, you will experience nervous problems and challenges in maintaining your equilibrium. In worst cases, nervous breakdowns and loss of memory could occur. You could experience physical problems in the fluid functions that would appear as kidney, bladder, or prostate disorders, or as poor circulation in the bloodstream or lymphatic system.

Your Surname(s)

The family name is the influence of your background, your home environment, the quality of thoughts of the family, the desires, ambitions, strengths and weaknesses, and the hereditary traits.

Surname qualities are modified or intensified depending on the first names given and used.

Mondal [\[edit/add name\]](#)

The Mondal are an idealistic family craving freedom of thought and action and something worthwhile to which they can direct their efforts. They are deep thinkers, seeking the answers to life and an insight into its purpose. Being intuitive and perceptive, they sense so much more than they understand. Although they are brilliantly clever, imaginative, and analytical and could excel in any subject to which they put their minds, rarely do they reap the benefits of their labours because they scatter their efforts or lose interest before projects are completed. Even if they achieve a degree of success, they never feel fulfilled because they sense there has to be more to life. If their plans are thwarted, or someone they trust lets them down, they are inclined to become depressed and wonder if life is worth the effort.

They crave quiet and harmony but their impulsive nature, driven by strong inner urges, undermines relaxation and peace. Often, it is only as they go out into nature on their own and can draw from the natural elements that they are able to find a degree of peace of mind. Although they have a deep love for others, a sense of awkwardness restricts their expression and, as a result, their partner and children who crave affection and assurance often feel repressed and insecure; this reserve, combined with a secretive and independent nature, puts a strain on close relationships. Because they are so easily hurt and offended, and because they are unable to share their innermost feelings and thoughts, they suffer misunderstandings and aloneness. The only way they can truly express their deeper thoughts is through writing. The home environment is inclined to be chaotic at times, with little harmony or spontaneous happiness. Driving intensity makes this family accident prone, and may create a pattern of disappointments and losses. Insomnia can adversely affect their well-being. Other health weaknesses could be relative to the heart and respiratory system, or nervous tension affecting the solar plexus, stomach, and process of digestion.

They bring you a life of change, with many new and varied experiences. Your composure and mental stability are greatly affected by the tension generated through the use of these names, and in moments of deep despair you could wonder if life is worth the effort. Moods of depression occur.
