Part 1: Your Life Purpose/Birthpath - August 7, 2004

We call your purpose your birthpath. It is measured from the month, day, and year of your birth.

Birthpath For: August 7, 2004:

[\[revise birthdate\]](#)

The date of your birth indicates that within you is a high-spirited, active quality. You want to be free to express your energies in artistic pursuits, drama, entertainment, and humour, or in sales promotion. You could excel along any avenue that does not restrict your spontaneous, expressive nature through too much attention to detail and routine. Imaginative and innovative, you could succeed in literary composition or journalism. The practical side of your inner nature would also allow you to perceive ideas in new ingenious and creative ways.

Your natural spontaneity and enthusiasm could require you to learn to concentrate and to develop patience in order to finish what you start. Otherwise you would not have self-confidence or experience the joy of accomplishment.

Some contact with people is necessary, for you would have a cosmopolitan, optimistic, generous, and buoyant nature which can inspire and make others happy. However, finding time to be on your own, preferably out-of-doors, would allow you to think about life, to plan your efforts, and to write down your thoughts and ideas as a means of cultivating your inborn philosophical and scientific interests.

Originality in self-expression is your keynote, the best expression being the ability to lift and educate others to a better way of life. In order to help them you must understand their needs and see their points of view. The emotional power within you should be directed into constructive channels to allow you to fulfil your destiny.

Whether your birthpath fully expresses depends upon your names, for your names create your personality. Your thinking and actions are the compelling forces that shape your life. The birthpath is the purpose to be understood and consciously expressed through a mind balanced to your birthpath.

You need to understand yourself. The following analysis of your names and signature will show the consistencies and inconsistencies between the expression of your personal nature created by your names of Anshika Pandey and your birthpath qualities described above.

Part 2: Analysis of Your Names

Why Names Matter

<https://www.kabalarians.com/cfm/nrmovie-embedded.cfm>

A Few Points to Recognize

In your Name Report, your names are analyzed using the 26-letter English alphabet. However the effect of your names in English may be modified somewhat if your names were created from a different alphabet. We would be pleased to discuss this matter with you.

Middle names do not determine your personality traits and are not analyzed unless you are called by your middle name. If your middle name is a part of your business signature, it would have an overall influence in your business affairs and would be described in the business signature section.

Adding Additional Names

If there are additional names you use and would like analyzed such as:

- nicknames
- middle names
- legal names
- business signatures
- previous names
- birth names
- maiden names
- future names

Your First Name(s)

Your most used first name(s) reveals your personality—your desires, ideals, capabilities, goals, ambitions, potential health sensitivities, the types of people you are drawn to, and the business and personal surroundings you seek.

Important: If your legal name is different than your most used name of Anshika we would encourage to add your legal first name to your Name Report so you can get an analysis this name as it is a very important influence in your life. For example:

- Most used first name: Barb
- But legal first name: Barbara

Anshika

[\[edit/add name\]](#)

Your first name of Anshika gives you a great desire to help people and draws you towards positions of philanthropic service. Because you are amiable and diplomatic, generous and sympathetic, you make friends easily. People are inclined to come to you seeking solutions to their problems. You have the ability to sense the feelings of others and to give good advice. If those around you are quarrelling, you would want to try to be the mediator to create understanding between them.

Yours is a quick mind and you can usually think of something to say when there is a need to offset or deflect an unpleasant situation, sometimes finding it necessary to stretch the truth a little in the process. You want very much for everyone to be happy and friendly. Since your life is people-oriented, you must always hold the confidences shared with you and guard your tongue against a tendency to gossip. Unfortunately, these are times in your life when others are apt to take advantage of you because you find it difficult to say “no” especially if people have appealed to your sympathies.

You are a romantic, nurtured by encouragement, tenderness, and affection. You do not like to stand alone. As you often experience difficulty making decisions, you appreciate the encouragement of others to give you the support and confidence necessary to follow through on your decisions.

Under stressful and intense situations, it is a challenge to you to maintain an even temperament as you are extreme in your feelings, optimistic and happy one moment, despondent and self-pitying the next. Because you are intuitive and impressionable, you are influenced by your surroundings and the thoughts and feelings of others. This sensitivity contributes to your variable nature.

Though you always have the best of intentions and dislike facing issues, procrastination could be your worst enemy. You could tend to make impractical promises, but which could satisfy the situation for the moment. Any monotonous activities that require system and order, and concentration are delayed until you are forced to take action. As a result, some of your efforts are scattered and unsuccessful.

You love music, and drama, and art. If given the training, you could excel in the self-expressive arts particularly in playing an instrument, in elocution, or in dancing. You appreciate fashionable clothes and refined surroundings because they add to your poise and self-assurance.

You enjoy spending money and are generous, but must be wary of those who would appeal to your feelings and encourage you to spend beyond your means.

The qualities of your first name cause sensitivities in the nervous system which could affect your health. You require plenty of rest and relaxation in order to handle responsibilities. If you drive yourself, you will experience nervous problems and challenges in maintaining you equilibrium. In worst cases, nervous breakdowns and loss of memory could occur. You could experience physical problems in the fluid functions and the glands.

Your Surname(s)

The family name is the influence of your background, your home environment, the quality of thoughts of the family, the desires, ambitions, strengths and weaknesses, and the hereditary traits.

Surname qualities are modified or intensified depending on the first names given and used.

Pandey [\[edit/add name\]](#)

The surname Pandey creates a family that is serious and responsible, yet charming and sociable. Home life, friendships, and positions in the community are all important to them. They excel in public relations and as front-line representatives for organizations since they are adept in handling people, are good listeners and tactful, and are able to alleviate tensions and build trust. However, they do not do well in high stress positions, especially where they have to make difficult or unpopular decisions. Members of this family appreciate refinement and culture, and strive for comfort and quality. The home environment is warm and welcoming, although it may be somewhat lax in providing the structure and routine so important for children. Although they have good ideas, procrastination and lack of confidence often undermines their plans and initiatives. This tendency can be the major cause of worry and stress. Others count on them for sympathy and understanding, and for providing good advice. Because of their easy-going nature and living too much for association, they may become involved with those who have little to offer materially or intellectually, and their good nature may be taken advantage of. Weaknesses in the health could be obesity and conditions relative to the fluid functions of the body, kidney and bladder disorders, poor circulation, or varicose veins. Worry can also cause stress.

Your Combined Names Create Your Destiny

Your combined names sum up your life - your financial status, successful accomplishments, the environments you attract, and the state of your health. Your combined names create your destiny - your experiences and the circumstances that become part of your life.

Anshika Pandey

The combination of your names Anshika Pandey gives you the desire for business success, financial independence, and a high standard of living with refinement and culture. Your tastes are expensive but since you find it difficult to budget, you could live beyond your means. You would like to meet and mix with the wealthy and influential, but you attract people who take from you, rather than contribute to your progress. If you are not careful, they could draw you into situations that are detrimental to you and your plans. These names often require you to settle differences among people through exercising understanding and tact but also cause you to lose confidence and to procrastinate rather than follow through with your plans and creative ideas. They do not allow you to exercise the leadership you desire, but draw you into partnerships or secondary positions. Health weaknesses would affect the fluid functions, for example, in bladder or kidney problems.

The destiny that you experience and the overall conditions in your life created by these combined names has not allowed your full potential to express.

Anshika Pandey

[\[edit/add name\]](#)

To the extent that you use the business signature of Anshika Pandey, you would be taken among shrewd people who judge you by your financial success. This signature draws you into positions in which you are taken advantage of and where you play a subordinate role. In your business and financial dealings, you are often in a weak bargaining position, which others exploit. This signature greatly inhibits your financial standing and success. Regardless of your impression on others, you are not able to achieve your ambitions.

Your Birth Name

Part 3: Current Destiny Created by Your Combined Names

Your combined names of Anshika Pandey create the overall conditions in your life, which we call your destiny.

Your names have allowed a certain degree of accomplishment and success; however, there are definite drawbacks and conflicting influences that could spoil your long-term personal happiness, fulfilment, and business success.

These conditions will continually occur (despite your best efforts) and will limit your success in life.

Anshika Pandey

Your combined names of Anshika Pandey are not conducive to business and personal success and draw you into too much sociability and connections with easy-going people who tend to take advantage of you both personally and financially. These connections lead you into positions where you act as an intermediary in serving the public, but they do not lead you to positions of responsibility and authority. Nor do these circumstances draw upon your talents, skills, and all of which you are capable. In both your business and personal life, you are often called upon to mediate and to solve the problems of others. You do not benefit from these experiences. These names undermine your confidence and initiative as you do not attract the opportunities to find personal success and fulfilment of your own ideals and to develop the true expression of your birthpath potential. The tension caused by the circumstances into which you are drawn can create health weaknesses in the fluid functions of the body.

Part 4: Recommendations for Anshika Pandey

A summary of your names and business signature shows that you have had great plans and ambitions but have not experienced the personal fulfilment and success for your efforts. Your names create a complex nature with conflicting forces and emotions that will not take you to the success you are seeking nor allow you to follow your true path of destiny, as designated by your birthpath.

Your name and business signature need to be balanced in harmony with your birthpath to create the right channel through which to express your innermost desires and ambitions; otherwise, if you remain as you are, life will a struggle in many ways.

The Kabalarian Philosophy provides you with a unique opportunity to fundamentally change your life. Your future is important to us. Everyone deserves utmost happiness and success. Everyone needs to know where they fit into life and to serve their purpose well in assisting the world to be a better place in which to live.

Our Recommendation

Study of the Life Analysis Training program will give you the understanding of the relationship of mathematics and life, and to your name and mind.

Our further recommendation is that you seriously consider a name change to a Kabalarian balanced name, a name that is in complete harmony with your purpose or birthpath. Sometimes a simple change made to your current names or taking a fully balanced name will make all the difference to your life. Why? Because your name, when used, sets in motion an energy field from where you draw your quality of your thoughts.

Even trying out a balanced name for a period of time will make you realize how your thoughts and feelings will change. Exciting opportunities will reveal themselves as you work with a balanced name that will take you into the direction of your true purpose and natural abilities. The restrictions you have felt will be replaced with greater self-expression and confidence. Even if you are doing the things you love, you will find yourself experiencing greater success and happiness. Those close to you will see the difference—the look in your eyes, the smile on your face, and your contentment from realizing your greatest ideals.

Every name has its strong points and in changing your name, you will not lose the constructive qualities of your current name. They will be enhanced by your new name. As well the new name will help to offset limitations that have been holding you back as well as allowing a greater expression of your natural birthpath qualities.

Your name is you, and like everything else in the reality in which live, can be measured mathematically to reveal your innermost thoughts and feelings, your strengths and weaknesses and your degree of happiness and harmony.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

It is easy to desire to be good, to progress, to change, but it only happens when we apply and actually do the work necessary for the desired change. Wishful thinking never made anyone rich, beautiful, or happy. Only honest accomplishment does that.
